TRYING TO STEM TIDE

Germans Using All Available Men.

ALLIES KEEP UP ATTACK

French and British Forces Re- port More Progress.

London, Sept. 30.—The allies' great offensive in Artois and the Champagne is still being persevered in and, according to French accounts, which, however, are contradicted by the German official reports, further progress has been made in both areas.

In Artois the French claim to have reached hill 140, which lies directly east of Vimy and is the culminating point of the crests named after that town.

The importance of the hill lies in the fact that it commands the plains to the east, the network of roads and the railway which runs from Lens southward.

So far as Champagne is concerned the French appear at present to be making their chief effort toward the railroad junction north of Massiges, which accounts for the desperate efforts of the Germans to stem the tide and for the crown prince's counterstroke in the Argonne, as this railway connects the German army in the Argonne with its base at Vouziers.

Perhaps the heaviest fighting since the offensive began is now going on, for the British are attacking the German third line of defense south of La Bassee canal and the Germans have brought up reinforcements against both the British and the French and are making every effort to retrieve the lost ground.

Belgium, dispatches from Holland say, has been denuded of troops, while German detachments are even being removed from the eastern front to meet what is now known to be the greatest effort made in the west since the armies took up their present position from Belgium to Switzerland.

French Are Striking Hard.

The Germans are trying to divert the allies by a heavy artillery bombardment north and south of the Aisne, but, plans having been made by General Joffre, the French are striking with all the force at their command at the points selected.

It is reported that the German emperor has arrived at the western front and that he has already dismissed some of his generals for allowing their lines to be pushed back to almost the breaking point.

Despite the transfer of some troops to the west the Germans continue to strike hard at the Russians, practically all along their front. Field Marshal von Hindenburg is delivering heavy strokes against Dvinsk, while his colleagues on his right is pushing forward to the east of Vitebsk and Molodechno in an attempt to turn the Russian position, and has now reached a point to the north of Minsk, while another army is advancing on from the southwest.

Field Marshal von Mackensen and Prince Leopold of Bavaria apparently are inactive, owing doubtless to the marshes, which are now impassable, but General von Linsingen is still pressing hard on the Russians in Volhynia.

It is expected that the weather will soon put an end to the operations in the east, as with the continued rains the rivers cannot be forded, and the Russians, wherever possible, are getting behind them.

It is again reported that an Austro-German army 300,000 strong is assembling for an offensive against Serbia.

R. von Kluck, after a period of recuperation in the country, is now fully restored to health and is living in his Berlin home, according to an unofficial announcement made here. The health of General von Kluck had not been good since he was wounded late in March by shrapnel fire while inspecting the advanced German positions on the western battle front.

It is not known when General von Kluck will return to active service.

UNIONISTS UNAWARE OF M'KENNA'S PLAN

Law Explains Taxes Will Not Affect Tariff Discussion.

London, Sept. 30.—After a discussion in the house of commons on the import duties levied by the new budget, during which the free traders charged the Liberal members of the government with going back on the principles of their duty and with having been influenced by the tariff reformers in the cabinet, Andrew Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, said that he and his Unionist colleagues had not known the intentions of the chancellor of the exchequer until Mr. McKenna informed the cabinet of the details of his budget and that the taxes imposed in abnormal times would not have any effect on the tariff controversy when the war ended.

Josiah Wedgwood, Liberal and single taxer, protested against the duty on motor cars. He declared that nothing so helped to economize labor as the importation of motor cars from America.

Chancellor McKenna replied that the taxes are abnormal and it is obligatory to lessen unnecessary imports to procure a readjustment of the unfavorable exchange. However, in deference to the views of experts, he proposed to exempt lorries and vans used exclusively for trade purposes, their parts and all motor tires from the new duties.

MURDERED AND MUTILATED

Fate of American Soldier Captured by Mexicans.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 30.—The Carranza commander at Las Peladas, Mex., headed the attacking party of Mexicans who crossed the border last Friday night and in a fight with American soldiers captured Trooper Richard J. Johnson, whom they shot and then mutilated by taking his head and ears as souvenirs. It was reported to Southern department headquarters by Captain Frank R. McCoy.

Guadalupe Cullar, a Mexican who said he was one of the attacking party, gave the details of the fight to Captain McCoy in a sworn statement.

Americans to Be Released.

London, Sept. 30.—There have been so many cases of zealous recruiting sergeants inducing American members of the crews of cattle boats and other craft to join the British army that Robert P. Skinner, the American consul general, has effected arrangements with the board of trade by which such men who repent of their enlistment shall be promptly released.

The $7,500,000 is alleged to have been unlawfully diverted from the funds of the railway company to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company in connection with loan transactions involving stock of the Frisco lines.

The suit was brought by the receiver by direction of the federal court in Chicago. The transaction on which it is based is the same as that which was brought out in evidence at the investigation several months ago of Rock Island affairs by the interstate commerce commission.

The German loan is being offered in this country by Zimmerman & Forshay, New York. It bears 5 per cent interest and is callable before 1924. The loan is unsecured, as in the case of the Anglo-French loan.

TURKISH FORCES IN FULL FLIGHT

British Pursuing the Enemy in Mesopotamia.

CARRY POSITION BY STORM

General Nixon Reports Capture of Long Line of Defenses on Tigris River, Inflicting Severe Losses on the Turks and Taking Several Hundred Prisoners.

London, Sept. 30.—Mr. Chamberlain read telegrams in the house of commons from General Nixon, commanding the forces in Mesopotamia, relating the outcome of the recent fighting.

General Nixon reported that one position carried by the British constituted a long line of defense astride the Tigris river.

At a point seven miles east of Kut two brigades crossed the river from the right bank and by a forced march reached the left wing of the Turkish position, carrying it by assault. By nightfall the whole position had been carried.

The Turkish losses in dead are described as severe. The Turks clung to their trenches with the greatest tenacity and they were filled with dead when the British carried them. Many guns, rifles, several hundred prisoners and quantity of ammunition were captured.

General Nixon gave the British casualties as "under 500."

A second dispatch from General Nixon says:

"The enemy's position in advance of Kut-el-Amara was captured, with many prisoners and guns. The enemy is in full flight toward Bagdad. Our forces are pushing in pursuit. Details will follow."

General Nixon's second dispatch indicates that the British forces have made a long advance in the interval since the previous official report. Kut-el-Amara is on the Tigris river about 150 miles below Bagdad.

FRENCH TO SEEK MARKETS

Commerce Minister Proposes to Form Committee to Win Trade.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Gaston Thomson, French minister of commerce, introduced in the chamber of deputies a bill creating a consulting committee on exports.

Explaining the purpose of the bill to the Temps he said it was designed to facilitate French exports to markets previously supplied by Germany and Austria.

"The British market especially," said he, "comprises consumers well disposed toward us and whose business ways are similar to ours. Germany sold the United Kingdom nearly 2,000,000,000 francs ($400,000,000) worth of goods in 1913, while we sold 1,000,000,000."

The minister mentioned particularly Canada, India and Australia as desirable markets.

Successes Inspire Greeks.

Athens, Sept. 30.—The successes of the allies on the western front are having a visible effect on the situation in Greece. The people daily are growing more enthusiastic in favor of war. Opposition to the government's military measures no longer is evident on the part of the element which heretofore resisted Greece's co-operation with the entente allies in the fear that they would be unable to win the war.

WISCONSIN TOBACCO GROWERS LOSE HEAVILY.

Stoughton, Wis., Sept. 30.—The loss on Wisconsin tobacco this year will run into the millions. Possibly 10 per cent of the entire crop is of fine quality, though shed burn may cause still other losses. The weather has been too wet for proper curing. Some farmers are building fires under the sheds to preserve the shedded weed. The value of the Wisconsin crop has been estimated at $6,000,000 a year heretofore. It may reach $1,000,000 this year.

HURRICANE AT NEW ORLEANS

Some Loss of Life and Heavy Property Damage.

STORM SWEEPS GULF COAST

Wind Reaches a Velocity of Ninety Miles an Hour at New Orleans—Ten Persons Are Reported Killed, Many Injured and Financial Loss of Over
One Million Dollars.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 30.—Wireless advices from New Orleans say that ten persons were killed and 150 injured by the hurricane in New Orleans. Property damage was estimated at above $1,000,000. The famous French market section was partly wrecked.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 30.—New Orleans and the Mississippi gulf coast were swept by a tropical hurricane that demoralized communication and led to fears of heavy loss of life and property.

The Mississippi river levees below
New Orleans have broken, houses have been washed away and at least five lives have been lost in that section, according to a wireless message from the Morgan liner Creole, upward bound from New Orleans.

The business section of Biloxi, Miss., is under six feet of water and train service has been abandoned because of washouts throughout a large section about Bay St. Louis.

Reports coming from New Orleans before all means of communication were lost said the city was in darkness because of the flooding of electric plants. Milneburg and other New Orleans suburbs along the lake were partially under water.

The wind reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour at New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, according to reports reaching here.

Mobile escaped the worst of the storm.

HAD INDIAN TROOPS ABOARD

British Transport Ramazan Sunk by Submarine.

Athens, Sept. 30.—The Greek government has released the Sikhs and Gourkas who were survivors of the British transport Ramazan, which was sunk by a submarine. They were sent immediately to Malta on the Messageries Maritimes steamer Si-boni. Many of them had no opportunity even to obtain clothing.

The Ramazan evidently was carrying Indian troops either to the Gallipoli peninsula or to France. The course taken might have been through the Arabian sea, the Gulf of Aden, the Red sea and the Suez canal into the Mediterranean. The fact that the survivors were landed at Athens makes it probable the troops were on their way to the Dardanelles.

The five men were at work in the Superintendent Lynch of the works said the fire was caused by static electricity.

a prominent local contractor and builder, has brought suit for $15,000 against H. F. Scott, a local druggist, who she alleges, made a drug addict of her husband.
Mrs. Moberg sets forth that the defendant furnished her husband with opium and preparations of which opium is a part, from about January, 1912, until the death of Moberg, March 17, 1914. Mrs. Moberg avers she warned the defendant against such sale.

lin Mohr, on Aug. 31 last, and three

WOMAN'S REALM

MRS. N. M. PAINE PASSED AWAY

Had Been a Resident of Brainerd Thirty Years—Prominent Member of Rebekahs

Mrs. Frances Paine, wife of Newton M. Paine, aged 70, for thirty years a resident of Brainerd, died this morning of heart disease after a long illness. She leaves no children.

Her two sisters are Mrs. Laura Goff, Crystal Lake, Ill., and Mrs. Hattie Paine of Brainerd, and a brother is C. H. Paine, of Brainerd, all being with her in her last moments.

She was born in Cayuga county, New York, in the town of Victory. She was married in April, 1876 to Mr. Paine and they came to Brainerd in March, 1885. She was a member of the Rebekah lodge, beloved by her neighbors and friends.

THE MENDELSSOHN SEXTETTE

First Number of the Midland Lyceum Bureau Auspices Baraca Class of Baptist Church

The Mendelssohn Sextette will open the Midland Lyceum Bureau series of entertainments under the auspices of the Baraca class of the First Baptist church on Friday evening, October 1, at the Camels hall in the Iron Exchange building.

Popular music at its best will be revealed by the sextette. They are one of the very few companies in lyceum and chautauqua history capable of both a high grade of instrumental work and good vocal ensembles. They have added many costume changes and have built programs ideal in balance and entertaining in quality.

Orchestral instrumentation includes three violins, bass, cello and piano. They play with the spirit, fire and dash of a typical Hungarian orchestra. It is hoped the opening night of the Lyceum will show a large audience. Season tickets are very reasonable, $1.50 paying for the entire course of six entertainments, something different every month.

Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Liners were very pleasantly surprised on Monday evening, Sept. 27, by seventeen lady friends, the occasion being their fifth wedding anniversary. "500" was played. Mrs. Liners was presented with a win set and some wooden ware and granite ware. A delicious lunch was served.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Creation"

It has been well said by men of education that this photo-drama "Creation," is the most wonderful and most practical philanthropy ever presented, because it gives its patrons a year's education at each of its four sessions. The value of having the important facts of the world's history clearly before the mind is important—but having them in their chronological order is, in this busy age, worth more. It is valuable to the elderly, putting them abreast of our times. It is valuable to the middle-aged, as showing the relationship between present wonderful devices and conditions and the past. It is valuable to young men and young women who have just left school, constituting a sort of post-graduate course—the very thing they need to connect up, cement and hold together the lessons they have learned. It is valuable also to thoughtful boys and girls of twelve years and upwards. But it is not for small children, who cannot be admitted, even when accompanied by guardians, except in the afternoon.

This drama is being shown all over the world and is doing a wonderful amount of good by way of re-establishing faith in the Bible. Letters from financial aid are coming to us from various quarters, often from those who once infidels—people who desire that others may have a share of the blessings they themselves have received. Its four parts constitute an intellectual festival, a mental treat, the most wonderful ever presented.

This treat comes to the Brainerd opera house, for one night only, October 6th, and will be given under auspices of the Bachelor Maids, the proceeds for same will go to carrying on their charity work. Remember the time, place, and price, 25c per ticket.

WHAT'S THE CORRECT THING

Fashion Dictates the Clothes to be Worn by Men on Different Occasions, Functions, Etc.

What's the correct thing to wear, a man has sometimes asked. The ladies, as a rule, are asking that question continually.

For formal evening functions, weddings, balls, dinners, receptions, theater, men wear a full dress coat with trousers of some material; single-breasted white waistcoat of pique, linen or silk; white shirt; wing or poke collar; white bow tie; pearl or moonstone links and studs; white gloves; high buttoned patent leather shoes, or pumps; black hose; high silk hat (some wear straw hats in mid-summer). Although the plaided shirts are still used widely, there is a tendency to return to the stiff bosom shirt both with the full dress and Tuxedo.

For informal evenings, dinner at home, stag parties, theater sometimes, men wear Tuxedo or dinner black-and-white silk or linen waistcoat with trousers of same material; coat, single-breasted; gold or jeweled links and studs; white shirt; fold or wing collar; black bow tie; gray suede, tan kid, or chamade gloves; black or gray hose; patent or dull leather shoes or pumps; any hat except high silk.

For morning and afternoon weddings, receptions, or any formal daytime affair also Sunday, outwayer frock coat, black or oxford; trousers of gray striped worsted, or to match coat; waistcoat of fancy fabric or to match coat; white linen fold or wing collar; four-in-hand or once-over cravat; patent leather or dull calf, button-top shoes; black derby or high silk hat.

For business or any wholly informal use, men wear sack suit or English walking frock; fancy or white linen; any hat you look well in; black, tan, or fancy top shoes.

Soldiers Learn to be Cooks

London (By Mail)—Over 200 domestic economy instructors under the auspices of the London county council are today enrolled for the task of teaching 3,000 British soldiers the art of cooking.

Bread baking, the concoction of Irish stews and the correct way to boil potatoes are the chief features of the campaign to make army cooking better. Scores of cooking schools for the soldiers have been established in many parts of London.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys—Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys ely you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Out of the Bondage of
Her Mortgage Debt

BY V. E. MICHEL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Minot, N. D., Sept. 28—With the state object of leading North Dakota out of the bondage of her mortgaged debt, and educating farmers with a view of bettering farm conditions on this, the bread basket of the world, the Farmers Rural Credit association today announced a series of farmers' schools to be held in various Dakota towns during the winter. Schools will be held wherever 50 pupils are enrolled and will be located in towns convenient to the majority. The school lasts five days and two sessions daily are held. During these sessions, lectures are held.

Resulting from the fact that farmers must buy their necessities at highest retail price from a man who buys for him, with the middleman profit, must sell at the lowest possible wholesale rate, to a man who sells for him, with a middleman's profit; and must borrow money with which to conduct his business; paying highest interest commissions and discount rates from the banker who is probably closely associated with the middleman with whom the farmer must deal. North Dakota is in a bondage of debt, according to the association's officers.

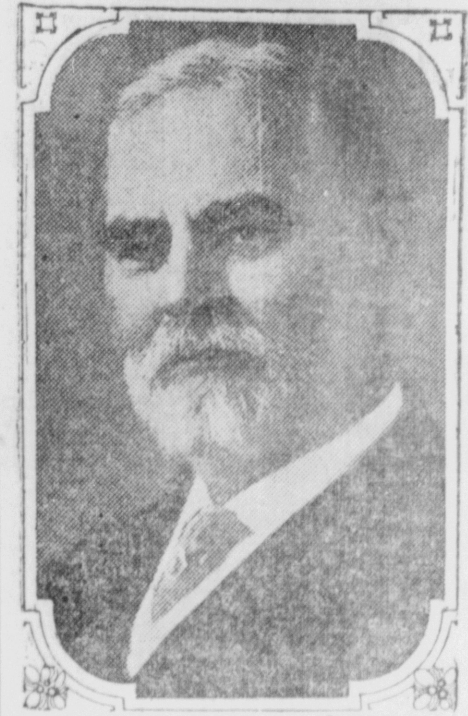

Seventy-five percent of the farms of North Dakota are mortgaged. One percent of the boys of the state reach high school. Children of tender years trudge from one to five miles in the dead of winter, to attend school. Farmers work fifteen hours a day and their wives work from daylight to dark. Children follow the plow—and their just earnings go, not to better their humble little tumble down homes in North Dakota, but to make richer and better the palatial mansions of the grain gamblers of Lowry Hill, Minneapolis.

It is with the idea of educating the farmers—much in the same way that the larger railroad systems have undertaken to educate their employees against the loan shark—that the schools have been announced. The home office of the association is located here. Rural credits, buying and marketing will be among the things freely discussed at the school.

Speech of Jas. R. Mann

The following is the address of Congressman Mann, republican leader of the house of representatives, at a republican meeting in St. Louis, Sept. 28, 1915:

Republicans of the great state of Missouri: Your state ought to be a republican state. It ought to give its support in congress and elsewhere to the dominant ideas of the republican party. It is your duty to your state.

MR. JAMES R. MANN,
Republican Leader
in Congress

to the nation, even to the civilizing influence of prosperity, to put this state in the republican column at the next election, and I believe you will do your full duty.

It is the duty of the government, at the least, to permit prosperity at home, to provide means of defense against aggression from abroad and to secure the rights of American citizens and their property the world over.

A proper protective tariff is necessary for all these purposes.

Such a tariff should be the means of raising a large amount of revenue, in the main paid by the foreign exporter. It should give a reasonable degree of protection to the American producer against the undue competition of cheaper labor abroad. We cannot maintain our high standard of living otherwise. Our producers, who pay high wages for short hours and exclude child labor, who pay high taxes for our costly governments and our fine schools, must not have their industries destroyed by the competition of those who do not contribute any taxes for our use.

The first duty of the republican party when it comes into power again will be to write a protective tariff law and provide for a tariff commission of disinterested experts.

The business, labor and industries of the country cannot wait for a tariff revision until after the tariff commission has reported. We want to start up every old industry and many new ones at the earliest possible moment.

The tariff commission will investigate and ascertain the facts more completely than has been done heretofore and tariff schedules of the future will be based upon full information obtained by scientific methods. Tariff schedules should be high enough to secure fairly the American market to American producers, but not so high as to permit exorbitant charges for the things produced. In other words, the rates should be reasonable.

The recent experiences of other countries bring to mind vividly the need of our country to foster and protect industries at home in order that we may have their benefit if we should be engaged in war.

The rights of capital should be fairly well ascertained and secured. We cannot otherwise obtain the most complete investment of capital in great and new undertakings. The markets of the world are ripe for our picking. We need great sums of money in order to more fully develop our resources and spread our trade at home and abroad. That money may be readily secured if, and only if, its investment offers fair returns. Government, instead of endeavoring to prevent or hamper the use of great combinations of capital, should endeavor to provide fairly the opportunity of reasonable rewards for such investment. Large sums of money cannot be used in furthering industries at home and trade abroad without greatly increasing the employment and wages of labor.

The rights of labor should be secured and maintained everywhere in our country. The increase in our national wealth, augmented by developing industries and trade, should be participated in by those who do the manual and brain work as well as those who provide the working funds. No nation ever before had the opportunity for industrial and trade developments which lies before our country now in this unexampled condition of the world's affairs. If we act wisely in our own interests we will give a situation of material prosperity and intellectual and moral growth to all our people of every degree and class, such as was never known before. If the government will only aid and not hinder, our growth and development will become the wonder of the world. But the job is too big for the statesmen of the democratic party.

While we are adopting means and methods for our trade and industrial development, let us also, in view of the conditions in foreign lands, put our house in order to defend and protect itself against any foreign nation or nations. Our wealth will soon ex-

GERMANS CONTINUE TO STIFFEN THEIR RESISTANCE

By J. W. T. Mason, for United Press

The most significant indication for the moment of the condition along the western battlefront is that the Allies' official reports now enumerate the gains in yards instead of miles and speak of captured prisoners in hundreds instead of thousands. It is apparent from this fact that the Germans continue to stiffen their resistance, although they are not yet holding their own at every point along the line. The British seem to have abandoned their efforts to reach Lille and to have halted their other offensive north of Ypres. Apparently, they are concentrating their major strength at Loos.

The Germans are now facing a concerted Anglo-French drive, which has the important German supply station of Douai as its objective, 12 miles to the east.

To reinforce the Douai line, other parts of the German front, probably, have been weakened. If the Allies discover from what points the withdrawals have been made, the possibility exists that they may break through one of these semiguarded barriers. But, under normal circumstances, before a successful assault can be delivered against entrenched positions, there must be preliminary artillery fire of high intensity, to blow the enemy's obstructions away. This fire acts as a warning to the enemy. Some notice, therefore, would doubtless have to be given to the Germans if the Allies were to select a new point for an offensive. There would then result a race between the rapid effectiveness of the Allies' artillery and the quick concentration of German troops in the threatened areas.

cite the envy, if not the cupidity of the outside world.

We have the wealth. We have the men. But we do not have the organization, the means, the experience or the methods sufficiently developed and provided to make proper defense against foreign foe or attack. We must provide all that is necessary for our protection and we must do it soon and completely.

The highly developed modern civilization is liable, if not likely, to break down in other countries. The immense indebtedness of foreign lands with its tremendous current burdens is almost sure to bring about a revolution, if not many national revolutions. The interest burden is likely to prove too great for the backs of some of the foreign countries.

That there will be trouble abroad, even after a treaty of peace between the warring nations is secured, seems most probable. We cannot afford to take the risk of not being prepared to defend ourselves and our rights.

If we make the effort to capture the markets of the world, as the opportunity now offers, we must be ready to defend and protect the rights of our citizens doing business abroad and their property. We might well begin with Mexico. Our business and financial interests cannot be expected to greatly increase our trade with other nations unless they can feel that our government will prevent the wanton seizure and destruction of their property interests as well as their agents and employees in other lands.

It is not our duty to reform the whole world, but it is our duty to guarantee to American citizens whom we invite to engage in foreign trade and undertakings that so long as they follow peaceful and legitimate pursuits they will receive the attention and support of the American government and the protection of the American flag.

But we must not become military made. Probably there is no danger of that. Our form of government and our citizenship are not adapted to military propaganda. We may want to conquer the trade of the world, but we do not want to conquer other nations or take other lands. And while we should be amply prepared to defend our country and our rights at home and abroad, we have no desire to wage a war of force against any people.

We must not forget, while providing means for extending our foreign commerce and protecting ourselves from possible foreign aggression, that it is equally important to make use of all our natural advantages and resources at home. The government in many ways and by scientific methods can aid in national development. It can bring more land under cultivation by drainage and irrigation, it can increase the productivity of the land now cultivated by experimental methods and teaching improved ways it can do many things and aid in many ways which will add to the case of transportation, to the saving of that which is now waste and lost, and it can increase generally by wise legislation and administration the growth of our prosperity.

There is now waging in Europe the fiercest and most appalling conflict which the history of the human race records. What its final consequences may be no one can confidently predict, for which ever side wins, the result on civilization and mankind is likely to be much the same. The most important effects of the war will come after peace has been declared and will be upon civilization itself and the form of governments. And those effects are likely to be much the same which ever side wins.

Let us keep out of that war. Let us remain neutral. It is not our duty to civilize or govern Europe. It is our duty to act for the lasting best interests of our own country. Those interests will be subserved by our remaining an onlooker. It is difficult for men to restrain their passions when excited by current events, but we should remain calm, if possible, and at peace in any event in this terrific struggle.

The war over there may last for many years off and on before the nations are sufficiently exhausted to produce a lasting peace. We will have many temptations to take sides and to take part, but our duty to civilization, to ourselves, to posterity, demands that we remain neutral and keep out of it.

Our highest duty is to America. We should use every effort to advance the interests of our own country and our own people, with a single eye for the advancement of American prosperity, American civilization, American intelligence, American morality.

I do not wish to come into the state of Missouri to speak even before a partisan organization without paying my tribute to her most distinguished citizen.

Champ Clark is a great speaker. He is a great man. Whatever other political views he may hold which we believe erroneous, he is American to the core. And, after all, we place love of and good for our country above all party considerations.

Political Complications

BY V. E. MICHEL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 30—Political circles today foresee some possibilities of peculiar complications, following the letter from James A. Newell, chairman of the Ramsey county democratic organization to Frank A. Day, chairman of the Fairmont Sentinel and former chairman of the democratic state committee.

That a bunch of carpet baggers, referring especially to a South Carolina attorney imported into the state to work Chippewa Indian litigation, have invaded the state and violated the cardinal principle of democracy—home rule—is the assertion of Mr. Newell in the letter. He also mentioned dissatisfaction among democrats on the appointment of Otto N. Rath as postmaster of St. Paul.

There were many guesses in St. Paul today on just what this will mean for the party. Some openly predict a split in the ranks of the democratic party in Minnesota. Others today were more optimistic and ventured an opinion that there would be no serious "comeback" from this letter.

The Best Use for the County Farm

Editor Dispatch:—The question of re-leasing the county farm is now before the county board. At an adjourned meeting of the board, Sept. 25, partly to pass on bids for a new lease on the farm, the matter of making it a county demonstration farm was discussed, a number of farmers present taking part. In deference to the sentiment present action on the bids was deferred until their regular meeting, Oct. 5th.

To place the matter more definitely before the farmers and others interested in county affairs, the following is submitted:

As the writer sees it, it is essentially an educational question. For forty years now we have had in the United States agricultural colleges and experiment stations. As long as there was virgin soil to turn to that would yield generous returns from the crude methods of early days, the natural human prejudice against change had demonstrations to prove the uselessness and folly of all this "theory" business, and "book-farming" and college training for farmers. As a result a very large part of public expenditure on this line in the past has been literally wasted, not but that there was exact and useful knowledge obtained but because it was used to such a limited extent. A majority of the farmers in the early days were simply unable to understand or apply such knowledge found only in books and papers. To meet and overcome this difficulty we now have the agricultural extension division of the State University with its farmers' institutes, short courses and the county agent. The benefits of these innovations or advanced steps in Minnesota can be testified to by thousands of farmers; but everybody knows that prejudices still hold their fort on some points, and are, even with some otherwise progressive farmers, against the new institution of county agent.

As a farmer, the writer has no hesitancy in pronouncing each and all of these institutions an incalculable benefit to the farming interests and general development of Minnesota; as a teacher of some experience, he, as unhesitatingly avers that these institutions are the only logical and available means to make agricultural knowledge and research immediately beneficial to the farmers and prepare conditions essential to the imparting and acquirement of knowledge, in that through these the educational institution, proper is brought into touch with the farmer, ideas and methods are presented in intelligible terms by experienced farmers and prejudice is gradually disarmed.

Now if this extension division system were complete, the three points mentioned just above would be reversed in the order mentioned as to experience. First, prejudice would be disarmed; second, ideas and methods would be supported by demonstration, and then naturally, every farmer would want to get in touch, or get next to education. All that we in Crow Wing county lack to make this system complete and fix this latter order in the educational process is an opportunity for the county agent to make good, to demonstrate that he is a farmer and knows what he tells us as facts and can prove them to be facts; that is, a county demonstration farm with the county agent as superintendent.

Some argue that if this farm were devoted to specialties as alfalfa, pedigreed stock or pure bred seeds, more income would be realized, and it might be of more value that way for advertising effect. That financial results should be considered in determining its use is freely granted; but as a demonstration farm its educational value should be the first and essential consideration.

Its management and lines of production should be that which the majority of farmers in the county might follow and in a general way should follow for satisfactory results diversified farming. The aim should not be to raise pedigreed stock for the farmers but to show them in practice how to improve such stock as they have for themselves; not to raise pure bred seeds for them but to show them how to raise pure bred seeds for themselves; not to prove that alfalfa can be grown in Crow Wing county but to plan the farm for economy and illustrate in their practice how certain parts might be put to much more profitable use in growing alfalfa than for any other purpose. The management should prove that dairying can be made profitable and pay all expenses connected with it; should show the limit and method in which hogs can be raised on the average farm and finished for market with profit; and so with poultry and the farm garden, etc. It should emphasize in every department of its work the necessity and advantage of system in the care and feeding of stock, the kind and proper rotation of crops, the value of accounting and suitable methods adapted to different lines and size of farms.

While it would be manifestly unfair to expect much in the way of net returns for a year or so, by the third year it should show a fair interest in the amount invested allowing for a fair valuation of the agricultural values of the land in use. It should show on financial lines the profit of a judicious use of capital in making improvements and renewing or increasing stock, but first, last and all the time, it should be the aim to prove the pre-eminent value of brains when combined with proper energy and constancy to follow them out.

With that farm under such a management, where the farmers could meet two or three times a year (and the urban residents with them too if so disposed) and view the work and compare with their own, it would be

WHEN the food reaches the stomach it is subjected to a peculiar churning movement by the muscular walls of the stomach. (See Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, page 45). In the liver, kidneys and skin, the blood is purified of its waste materials—these organs act as human filters, leaving the blood pure and clear—unless liver, digestive tract and kidneys are clogged.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a stomach, liver and kidney tonic—by assisting the stomach to assimilate, the liver to filter, the kidneys to act—the poisons are removed, the red blood corpuscles are increased and one feels light, fresh and active instead of loggy, dull and heavy. The "Discovery" stimulates the stomach, increases action of heart and arteries and is a most satisfactory alternative in blood-taint of any character. The refreshing influence of this extract of native medicinal plants has been favorably known for over forty years. Everywhere some neighbor can tell you of the good it has done.

of more value to the county through the impulse it would give toward better agricultural development than all its mineral value, whatever that may prove to be.

"What man has done, man can do." J. H. McGuire had such an opportunity given him at the Grand Rapids Northeast Experiment farm. He made good, and his work there has done more for Northeastern Minnesota in inclining the minds of farmers toward scientific farming as being practicable than all the talk he could have made with that of many others combined could have done without it.

We need such a demonstration in Crow Wing county. There are other men who would appreciate such an opportunity.

This is a serious and important question. Our county board is in the main progressive men. They honestly want to do what will be for the best interests of the county agriculturally as well as commercially. If every farmer reading this would write the auditor a postal card expressing the approval or disapproval of this proposition and if approval, that he shall wait, with patience and interest for results. It will materially help them to decide. Shall we, by silence, consent to re-letting that farm to a private party for another term of three or five years when it might be put to this better use? I shall write them my approval.

They meet Oct. 5th.
Respectfully yours,

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cure for that disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

YES, "WELCOME" TO BRAINERD

Electric Sign Hangs Over South Sixth and Marks the Deepest Mudhole in the Street

AUTOS FLOUNDER IN THE MUD

Crossings Almost Impassable. Public Using Ridge from Alley to Cross over Thoroughfare

Braingerd's "Welcome" sign bids you welcome all right, but its position at present is a very incongruous one, being situated over the sea of mud of South Sixth street and marking the deepest mudhole of the whole thoroughfare.

If a man stopped his car or wagon to take a look at the sign he would be liable to stall right in the street and the "Welcome" to our city would mean "Welcome" to our mudhole.

Yesterday pedestrians made use of the ridge of land between alleys between Front and Laurel and used it as a crossing. It was dirt heaped up by the Minnesota Telephone Co. which had finished laying cable conduits.

Laurel street has its share of mud too. Yesterday a farmer came in from South Long Lake and he said they would mob any road over-seer that had such a road in their township. He said it was no credit to any city to have such a pile of mud in its front door, so to speak, where every visitor can see it.

A Ford ran over a dog, the front wheel passing over the beast. The dog crawled out an endeavored to escape between the front and rear sets of wheels and was run over a second time, this time by a back wheel. The dog swam out of the quicksand and mud, wagged his tail and twisted his body to relieve himself from the coating of material covering him, barked at the car and then ran after his master none the worse for the encounter. This is the only case on record where the mud of that street saved a life and it is therefore on account of this life-saving property that the street is probably allowed to remain as it is.

Charles A. Forbes of State Highway Commission, Speaks of Road Building Here

Charles A. Forbes of St. Paul, of the state highway commission, District Engineer Cleveland and L. J. Alberts, road foreman of Deerwood, left Brainerd in Mr. Albert's car for Deerwood to inspect roads there completed and under way.

Mr. Forbes expressed himself as pleased with the progress of road building in Crow Wing county and the spirit for roads which is growing as one community sees what another is doing. "Good roads," said Mr. Forbes, "will double Crow Wing county's population."

'COMMUNITY DINNER' ON OCTOBER 11TH

Braingerd to be Honored by Visits From Men of National and State Prominence

AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Braingerd to be Dressed up to Have its Pictures Taken in the Movies, 1,000 Feet of Film

Braingerd is to be honored by visits from men of national and state prominence on October 11th when the Chamber of Commerce holds its first annual "Community Dinner". Word has just been received by the committee having the affair in charge that Ex-Congressman Fred C. Stevens and Secretary of State Julius

JOHN HENRY WORST
President of the North Dakota Agricultural School

A. Schmah have accepted their invitations while President John Henry Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural School will be on the program for a speech along agricultural lines. Another speaker of great prominence will be Wm. L. Harris, Minneapolis' leading merchant, who will speak on "The Money Value of Community Co-operation." Local speakers are also on the program, County Attorney S. F. Alderman representing the county, while Mayor R. A. Beise has been asked to speak in behalf of the city. It is believed that the giving of this dinner will see one of the largest gatherings of loyal, progressive citizens of Crow Wing county ever held in its history. The dinner is to be held at Gardner's Auditorium and will be in charge of ladies from the Congregational church who will serve a chicken dinner.

President Worst is well known in Brainerd having visited the city a few years ago. President Worst is considered one of the most prominent men in North Dakota and the committee feel exceedingly fortunate in being able to procure him for this event.

Wm. L. Harris of Minneapolis is best known as the president of the apolis when he purchased an entire block of business property amounting to over a million dollars on which has been erected the Garden theatre. Mr. Harris is considered one of the most public-spirited men in the city of Minneapolis today and was a big factor in the organization of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association.

Ex-Congressman Stevens is a prominent attorney of St. Paul who has a particularly pleasing address and will speak upon a subject of national importance.

Honorable Julius A. Schmah has chosen for a subject "The Meaning of Good Roads," one which Brainerd people will be much interested in.

In addition to the big Community Dinner which will be held in the evening at 6:30 o'clock, Brainerd is to be dressed up to have its picture taken in the form of movies. The United Educational & Publicity Bureau of Minneapolis through the co-operation of fifty-one prominent merchants of the city will send two operators with moving picture cameras who will take pictures of all prominent business houses, parks, streets, manufacturing establishments as well as several mines and prominent farms. Over 1,000 feet of film will be used in the picture and for the first time in its history Brainerd will have the honor of filming prominent men at the same time that pictures are taken of the city.

As soon as the reel of film is developed and ready for delivery, it will be shown at the Grand theatre for two nights. Large advertising posters have been distributed over the entire county inviting every man, woman and child to participate in the picture and it is predicted that capacity houses will flock to the theatre to see themselves in the movies.

N. P. SAFE TO RIDE UPON

"But it is Unsafe to Walk Upon," Says Circular Notice From its Efficiency Bureau

THE ANTI-TRESPASSING LAW

More Lives Could be Saved by Enforcement of Such Law Than by Providing Steel Cars

The Bureau of Efficiency of the Northern Pacific railway company has issued a timely circular letter addressed to station agents which is also of great public interest and that calls attention to the dangers of trespassing on the company's right of way.

Nearly 5,000 trespassers are killed yearly in the United States. You or some member of your family may be in this number if you or they indulge in trespassing on Northern Pacific tracks. The circular letter reads:

"The Northern Pacific is a safe road to ride upon. It is a very unsafe one to walk upon. During 1914 only one passenger traveling on a passenger train was killed, and his death was caused by a passenger on the train opening valve on back up hose, causing the train to 'break in two.' There were 120 trespassers killed during the same period.

When the railway is used for the purpose intended, it is a good place to be around; when the public uses it for any other purpose, it does so at its peril.

Please make it your business to at once acquaint the employees at your station, your friends and neighbors, school teachers, editors and clergymen with the following facts: Five thousand trespassers are killed in the United States each year. Many are respected citizens. Many are school children.

Using the track as a "short cut" home or to work often proves a "short cut" to the grave.

Were these five thousand killed in one accident, the public would rise as one man to stop it. Coming as they do, one by one, the public is lamentably indifferent.

What is needed in every state is an anti-trespassing law. More lives could be saved by the enforcement of such a law than by providing steel cars, installing block signals, and abolishing grade crossings, which, if required at one time would bankrupt every railway in America. The anti-trespassing law will cost nothing and will afford immediate relief, leaving the other remedies to be provided as the needs of the communities and the financial ability of the interested parties may determine. One life is as precious as another. Why throw all the safeguards around the passenger and none around the trespasser? The way to protect the passenger is to transport him safely; the trespasser to keep him from becoming one. Warn, therefore, all who walk on railway tracks that they are in great danger.

To arouse the public to a realization of the truth in regard to railway trespassing, you are asked to begin a campaign of education in your circle of influence. Post this bulletin in a conspicuous place and urge upon all that they read and heed.

We are trying to prevent accidents and ask your help."

The Ladies' Quartette with Mendelssohn Sextette

The Mendelssohns like many other companies have their nicknames in the bureau office. The Mendelssohns' name was a "poser" until it became evident that no matter what unfavorable local conditions might exist before the concert or what trouble might exist it all disappeared when the Mendelssohns gave their entertainment. One day the assistant manager let slip "the Mends" and from that day on the company has been called the Mends in appreciation of the fact that no matter what the troubles may be, the Mendelssohns mend them. They make good.

THE MENDELSSOHN SEXTETTE

The Mendelssohn Sextette have achieved their remarkable success because they have first of all made their programs interesting. If we were to look at beautiful roses for two hours their attractiveness would lessen, but if other flowers are interspersed the whole effect is happier. For that reason the Mendelssohns do not give an entirely classical program, nor an entirely popular program. They play music with red blood in it, music with throbs and music with laughs, and they promise at least once during the evening to whistle for us. There are readings, lively songs and slow songs, many pretty costumes, and orchestra music par excellence. Every minute during the program the finest musicians and those unversed in music enjoy in common. Their lyceum work is prepared under the direction of Louis O. Runner of Chicago.

Mr. Mendelssohn Not With the Sextette.
Early last season one eastern committee seemed certain to hold the year's record in evidence of appreciation of the concert given by the Mendelssohns. This committee organized an automobile party of nine autos to go to the next town thirty-eight miles away, and hear the program again the following night. But during the winter when the girls played a Southern military school they found on the bulletin board in front of the auditorium their pictures and under, in large type: "Come on, Boys, SIX OF 'EM!" The next morning classes were excused at train time while several hundred boys marched down to the train and said goodbye to only six girls. Many boys asked the girls to change from Misses to Mrs.

In one town the past season the committee asked if Mendelssohn would surely be with the company? That is the reason that the picture of Mendelssohn is no longer shown on the advertising.

The Mendelssohn Sextette is the only company of its kind in the entire concert field. This fine company is composed of six charming young women capable of living up to the claims made for them "popular music at its best." They are called the Mendelssohns because much of the music played is from the pen of this master. They have been organized for three seasons and were contracted for the entire three seasons before they had filled their first engagement. The bureau managers realized that their work was destined to be the acme of its kind and now it is merely a question of how much time each year they can spend in concert work. Nearly all of the young women have had university training in addition to conservatory study. Miss Elizabeth Paige, who heads the company has remarkable ability as a violinist and also sings and reads. Miss Sayde Lou Briggs, the cellist, is a pupil of Paul Schoenling of the Chicago Grand Opera Orchestra and has already proved a favorite with our audiences in other companies. The entire membership of the company is far above the average in musical ability and one of the most interesting points regarding the Mendelssohn Sextette is that they prove that personal attractiveness and fine musicianship go hand in hand.

Tuberculosis Crusades Meet at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—With nearly 1,000 delegates attending from eighteen states, the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis opened a three-day session here today.

The best way to prevent tuberculosis was discussed from the standpoint of the manufacturer, the large employer of labor, the employee, the patient, the doctor, the social worker, the editor and the state executive.

The conference was opened with short addresses by a number of Mississippi Valley governors. At noon today the delegation attended a "speechless banquet" at which Vice President Marshall presided. Delegates merely got acquainted at this banquet. They were given an opportunity to meet James Whitcomb Riley, Meredith Nicholson and other specially invited guests.

Upon arriving in Indianapolis the delegates were confronted with a monster double-barred cross, the symbol of the anti-tuberculosis fight. The cross is twenty-one feet high and is electrically lighted, said to be the biggest one ever constructed.

Speakers from fifteen Mississippi Valley states will explain in the next three days their ideas of how tuberculosis can best be prevented. Included in the list of speakers are Dr. Kennon Dunham, Cincinnati; Shirley P. Miller, of South Dakota College; Dr. Thomas Willett, Milwaukee; Dr. E. L. McGeehee, Hammond, La.; Dr. Theodore E. Sachs, Chicago, president of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis; John Voll, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor; William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers; Dr. E. R. Van der Slicke, superintendent of the Nebraska State Tuberculosis hospital; C. W. Lillie, president of the Ohio State Medical Society; Dr. Hoyt E. Dearholt of Milwaukee and Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana State board of health.

The delegates were spurred on to greater activity by the announcement that each year 100,000 men, women and children are killed by tuberculosis and it was estimated that in the Mississippi Valley are now living 500,000 people suffering from the white plague.

Local arrangements for the conference were perfected by Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the conference.

Nebraska Dry Campaign Launched

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 29.—The 1916 prohibition campaign aimed to place Nebraska in the list of dry states was formally launched today. In the convention which opened here this morning and will continue for two days the anti-saloon forces of the state began planning their line of battle.

The preliminaries for the contest have been shaped and the pre-convention work has been in the hands of a committee which has been active for several months. With today's gathering, however, the banners were flung to the breeze and the onslaught will now be with colors flying and with martial music.

"P. A." spells tobacco all over the world

Men of all tastes take to Prince Albert pipe and cigarette tobacco like it just about answers all questions! And it does! Quicker you get on speaking terms with this national joy smoke the sooner you'll get a whole lot off your mind. Because, it just hands you more fun than you ever got out of a pipe or makin's cigarette before. The patented process fixes that—and removes the bite and parch.

PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke is the one brand of tobacco you can take liberties with, firing away 24-hours straight without a tongue-kick! You get the listen of that.

Cut out lamenting for that old jimmy pipe stored away in the rafters; stop fretting about how you'd like to roll 'em, but you dassn't. Men, you can lay your last cent that you'll be top-notch-tickled if you catch the spirit of this testimony and get some P. A. and go to it! Never did anything but make smokers jimmy pipe joy'us and cigarette makin's happy—and that's just what's coming to you!

Can you sit-tight and get that P. A. aroma from somebody else's friendly old pipe or rolled cigarette? Can you pass up pleasure that's due you, and coming to you quick as you jump that fence into the Prince Albert pasture? Come on out and be a regular fellow who's game to take a chance for what ails his smokeappetite division!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Here's the latest member of the "old-time jimmy-pipers" club. It's a fine likeness of John E. Bach, 101 years old, of Newark, N. J. He has been a pipe smoker for 80 years. Mr. Bach, who enjoys his smoke every day, gives this idea of a long life: "Smoke all you want, eat all you want, sleep all you want—and don't worry!"

P. A. is sold everywhere in tippy red bags (handy for cigarette smokers), 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome posy and half-pound, tin humidors—and that classy crystal-glass pound humidors with the sponge-moistener top that keeps P. A. bang up.

a number of speakers of national reputation. Among them is W. J. Bryan, who it is believed will devote considerable time to a campaign to make his home state one of those which have placed the ban on the sale of liquor.

Music Festival at Exposition

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—The Autumn Music Festival opened at the Panama Pacific exposition today, and will continue to Oct. 3.
